

Biobank Graz wins the “International Life Sciences Awards 2016”

Congratulations to Biobank Graz!

The judges of the International Life Sciences Awards 2016 have made their decision and Med Uni Graz is pleased to announce that Biobank Graz has won the award: Best European Academic Biobank

International Life
Sciences Awards
2016

Recognizing the exceptional work of industry and academia in this field, the 2016 International Life Sciences Awards are a snapshot of the best this market has to offer. Winners of these awards can be assured that they are the best there is, and Med Uni Graz is pleased to broadcast this success.

The 2016 International Life Sciences Awards are granted by British “Global Health & Pharma”, a global independent information sharing platform and a multi-disciplinary members community<sup>1</sup>. The Awards are acknowledging what is undeniably and truly unique in this field, also giving this captivating and fundamental science the recognition it truly deserves.

These titles are given purely on merit, and they do not take into account company/academia size, geography or reputation. Instead, awards are focusing on firms, departments and individuals who are dedicated to producing innovative new ideas which will drive the industry forward.

Congratulations to the whole team of Biobank Graz and many thanks for this exceptional job!
